PRESS KIT

“Soffitta* Stories” is a project for the recovery and distribution of antiques and modern objects found in dusty attics and barns through a very particular formula: the finding of the objects takes place together with their story (both in written and oral form), usually told by their elderly owners, in an ideal generational relay, with the aim of passing on fascinating stories, in addition to furniture, art, crafts, books...

Beyond the intrinsic value of the articles, in fact, the added value is who has lived these articles, in wonderful or tormented times, because there is nothing more precious than a good story. Thus, with “Soffitta Stories” we create the first collection of objects with attached storytelling, ready to be donated.

 Soffitta: Italian term for attic or barn*
